Reagan letter reaccredits Craxi in Italy

ROME (AP)—President Reagan's "Dear Bettino" letter was credited Sunday with making it more likely Bettino Craxi would be asked to form a government to replace his own, which was toppled by the Achille Lauro hijacking.

President Francisco Cossiga said he would reflect Sunday on consultations he had with political leaders one day earlier before naming a premier-designate with the task of lining up a new government, Italy's 45th since World War II.

Cossiga was expected to announce his choice on Monday.

U.S. Deputy Secretary of State John C. Whitehead flew to Rome on Saturday to try to smooth relations between the United States and Italy, frayed by developments which followed the hijacking. During a meeting he gave Reagan's letter to Craxi, who has been considered a valuable U.S. ally.

Craxi told Parliament in a speech just before resigning on Thursday that a showdown had developed between Italian and U.S. troops after U.S. warplanes forced an Egyptian airliner carrying the hijackers to land in Sicily.

He also said that he protested to Washington what he said was a violation of Italian airspace when U.S. aircraft allegedly followed the Egyptian plane from Sicily to Rome.

According to Craxi's office, Reagan wrote that despite "differences on the best way to respond to the hijacking," the Italian and U.S. governments "share fundamental commitment on the necessity to respond with firmness to the challenges posed by international terrorism."

Reagan also wrote Craxi that: "I profoundly value the advice you have provided me in the past."

"Reagan's more than cordial letter arrived" to help clear the way for the choice of premier-designate, wrote La Repubblica, Rome's left-leaning newspaper.

Craxi said Saturday after getting Reagan's letter that he would be "pleased" to attend a meeting of Western leaders in New York next Thursday called by the president to discuss his November meeting with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

Like other major papers, La Repubblica predicted that Craxi was virtually assured of being selected by Cossiga, and noted that the Socialist "has excellent possibilities of succeeding" in forming a government.

Leaders of all five parties in Craxi's coalition said they believe another five-party government is the best solution to the crisis and some have said they would like to see Craxi again at the helm.

AA chapter organizes on campus

Editor's note: According to the Alcoholics Anonymous bylaws, group members are not required to have their surnames printed. Therefore, group members are referred to by their first name only.

By KAREN GOODWIN
Staff writer

An Alcoholics Anonymous chapter was recently started on campus by students who are AA members to help students with alcohol problems.

Brian, a recovering alcoholic who participated in the group's development on campus, said alcoholism is a disease "that many people won't recognize it within themselves."

AA, a worldwide non-profit organization, helps people who have found themselves in various kinds of trouble from drinking, Brian said.

Susan, also a recovering alcoholic involved in the formation of the new chapter, said she believes there are students on Eastern's campus who have drinking problems, "but don't know how to handle it.

"By bringing AA to Eastern it should allow an outlet for those people who do want help," she said.

AA's main goal is to show people with drinking problems that they can be helped, Brian said.

"Usually these people who hit the bottom or close to it feel there is no help available and that's when additional problems develop."

Judicial Officer Keith Kohanzo said he is considering "sentencing" some students to AA who get referrals to the Judicial Board because of alcohol "when it is appropriate."

Susan said she believes one problem the new chapter has had to face is that some students are hesitant to attend because "they think they would feel out of place or scared that a friend may see them." But she said all AA meetings are confidential. (See AA, page 3)

Faculty helps recruit new students

By JEAN WRIGHT
Staff writer

With the number of high school graduates declining, Eastern is turning to faculty members to help in the recruitment process.

Enlisting the help of faculty members to help recruit prospective students is not new to Eastern. Vice President of Student Affairs Glenn Williams started a program in 1978 in which faculty members could give a student a card which had a toll-free number to the admissions office and the faculty member's name on it.

"It gives a student a feeling of warmth to know that they have the name of a person they can talk to," Williams said. "You can't talk to Eastern Illinois."

Zoology instructor Michael Goodrich has been utilizing the program for two years. "It (the card) is a small thing a student can put in his pocket, so they get the feeling that they know someone here," Goodrich said.

"When Williams sent these to me I thought it (the program) was a good idea," he said. "It seems to work."

Goodrich said he includes the cards when he responds to letters from potential students.

Political science instructor Laurence Thorsen said he was familiar with the program, but did not use it.

"I have very little contact with students other than graduate students," Thorsen said. "It's of very little help to us because most of our recruiting is done by mail."

Williams described the results of the program as "not great." "Most instructors think someone else is going to do the recruiting," he said.

Williams believes it is important (See FACULTY, page 7)

Japanese to teach new methods

BLOOMINGTON—The latest corporate marriage between American and Japanese auto industries, the Diamond-Star Motors Corp., will bring Illinois an influx of Japanese business practices rarely found this side of the Orient.

Differences between the two management styles run so deep that company officials say Job One may be teaching workers how not to work like an American.

Labor and management will work together, eat together and even exercise together each day before workers head to the assembly line.

On the job, employees will function in work groups that will compete against each other for high levels of productivity; a practice aimed at encouraging and rewarding teamwork.

Diamond-Star, a joint-venture between Chrysler Corp. and Mitsubishi Motors Corp., will reflect the Japanese business tradition of teamwork in nearly every aspect of its development.

Arsenal island braces for protest

ROCK ISLAND—Civilian and military police patrols were strengthened Sunday at the Rock Island Arsenal, as peace activists gathered on the eve of their latest planned disruption of the Army's largest conventional weapons factory.

"People have been coming into town since yesterday. They've been coming in all through the night," said Doug Spalding, 24, a member of Project Disarm, a Chicago-based coalition also behind a June 1984 protest of the arsenal in which 104 demonstrators were arrested.

Spalding said on Sunday that organizers expected 300 to 500 people for Monday's predawn protest of the arsenal, a 964-acre island in the Mississippi River between Rock Island and Moline, Ill., and Davenport and Bettendorf, Iowa.

Arsenal authorities, meantime, prepared for the demonstration by closing off three bridges Sunday evening that link the island to Rock Island, Moline and Davenport.

Hijack victim's body arrives home

NEW YORK (AP)—A military honor guard, elected officials and relatives of Leon Klinghoffer, who was slain during the hijacking of the cruise ship Achille Lauro, gathered at Kennedy Airport on Sunday as the body of the 69-year-old New Yorker was returned home.

Klinghoffer's body arrived shortly after 3:30 p.m. on a flight from Rome. His flag-draped coffin was wheeled onto an airport runway where a short ceremony took place.

Speakers, including U.S. Sens. Daniel P. Moynihan, D-N.Y., and Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y., extolled Klinghoffer's courage.

"The hearts of all Americans go out to you in your time of grief," D'Amato told Klinghoffer's wife, Marilyn, and other members of his family.

As a result of his death, "There has come about a new spirit. Leon lives on," D'Amato said. "I believe that spirit will be one that lives on and gives comfort, help and aid to others to end this barbarism."

D'Amato said he and Rep. Theodore Weiss, D-N.Y., who also spoke at the airport ceremony, would propose Monday that Klinghoffer be awarded the congressional Medal of Honor.

After the speeches Klinghoffer's wife kissed her hand and touched the casket, which was covered by an American flag.

The honor guard removed the flag, folded it and gave it to Mrs. Klinghoffer, who clutched it as she wiped tears from her face.

A private funeral for Klinghoffer was scheduled Monday at Shaaray Tefila synagogue on Manhattan's East Side.

Klinghoffer was killed after four gunmen seized the luxury liner off Egypt on Oct. 8. The pirates were arrested in Italy after a plane carrying them was forced to land in Sicily by U.S. warplanes. They have been charged in the slaying.

Boy's funeral sparks more rioting

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Three more people died in overnight rioting in the Cape Province, and violence spread to Pretoria after the burial Sunday of a 13-year-old black boy allegedly beaten to death by police on his way to a prayer service.

After the burial, youths fought riot police and threw up barricades of rocks and burning tires in Atteridgeville township west of Pretoria, where unconfirmed reports said two youths were killed.

Pretoria's two large black townships, Atteridgeville and Mamelodi, have stayed relatively calm through 14 months of nationwide black rioting that has left more than 760 dead, according to government figures.

But tension built in Atteridgeville — population 100,000— after the death Saturday night of Moses Moope. Moope's family said he was beaten to death by a white policeman while on his way to a church prayer service. Police headquarters confirmed a policeman was suspended pending an inquiry.

The township exploded in violence after 15,000 people turned out for the funeral. Police fired repeated barrages of tear gas at rock-throwing youths manning the burning barricades, said a black reporter at the scene.

The journalist said he saw one youth fatally shot in the face at close range by a tear gas canister. Another man was said to have died when a house caught fire after tear gas was fired inside.

The reporter, who spoke on condition of not being identified, said police arrested about 40 blacks before the rioting subsided.

Durham to run for county office

By JIM ALLEN
City editor

After losing in her bid to become Charleston's first woman mayor in April, former councilman Olga Durham is looking to make a political comeback.

The Eastern alumna said Thursday she will seek the Democratic nomination in March for Coles County Treasurer in the wake of incumbent Jacqueline Record's announcement that she will not run again.

After being narrowly defeated in the April race for mayor—1,981 to 1,813—by Eastern administrator Murray Choate, the eight-year public health and safety commissioner said she "was a little bruised. But you've got to kind of lick your wounds and go on."

Durham said she made her decision about three weeks ago after talking with her family, Democratic party members and co-workers.

"This was something I couldn't pass up," she said.

"This is my first time not in office for six months and I miss being in office," she said, adding she will perform efficient distribution and collection of tax monies if elected.

Currently two other petitions for the Democratic nomination for the seat are out, but neither has been completed.

While Coles County has historically been a Republican stronghold, the treasurer's office has been one that has proven to be an exception to the rule. Before Record—a Democrat from Mattoon—the office was held by Democrats Glenn Stiljabour and John Cheeks.

"There are a lot of independents in Coles County who can swing an election either way," she said.

"What I think I can do is offer fair and honest leadership in the office," she said. "The past treasurers have done an excellent job and I intend to follow up on their work."

Campus forum to help identify student abuses

By ANGELA PAOLI
Assistant activities editor

Alcohol Awareness Week will kick off Monday with a presentation on alcoholism to administration and faculty members.

Gloria Leitschuh, staff member from the Hour House treatment center for alcohol and chemical abuse, will address the faculty on how to identify symptoms of a student with drug or alcohol problems, said Anita Craig, faculty coordinator for Alcohol Awareness Week.

Leitschuh will present information to the faculty on how to work with such students, Craig said. She added that Leitschuh will also present referral information.

Alcohol Awareness Week is nationally recognized on college campuses. Monday's presentation, which is open to the general public, is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. in the Charleston-Mattoon room in the University Union. It is the first in many events scheduled through Friday by a committee of administration and students.

Confidential.

AA is set up on a casual basis, Susan said. Group meetings are held weekly so participants can talk about problems they have experienced.

"It's a place where you can share your feelings about alcohol with others who understand the feeling of addiction," she said.

Counseling Center Director Bud Sanders said he has agreed to refer anyone who is afraid to attend group meetings to an AA member on a personal level for their first contact with the group.

Or, interested persons can attend the meetings held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Union addition Sullivan room.

Deadline needs to be firmer for ISSC awards

The Illinois State Scholarship Commission should stick to its guns in setting award policies.

Their most recent proposal is to reduce every student monetary award for spring semester by $50 unless the General Assembly approves a request from ISSC for supplemental appropriations totaling approximately $5 million.

Just one month ago, the ISSC was considering a plan to reduce monetary grants to private school students by as much as $200 from spring semester awards.

The first plan, proposed by the ISSC board of commissioners, was expected to generate about $3 million for the estimated 25-30,000 applications awaiting processing. In short, late applicants would benefit from the restructuring.

John Flynn, Eastern's financial aid director, said the chances of the General Assembly approving the supplemental appropriation are slim.

So it appears that the ISSC may not be able to fulfill its award promises to students in both private and public schools. And students will be left to find a supplemental source of $50.

While this latest proposal is more reasonable than reneging on $200 in awards promised to private school students, the ISSC should find a solution to its bigger problem.

Traditionally, the ISSC is flooded with late applications after its award-making process prior to the beginning of an academic year. While giving awards to as many students as possible is admirable, the ISSC's primary obligation should be to those who meet the application deadline.

The ISSC needs to send out a warning to students to apply by deadline for equal consideration for awards since the ISSC does not receive the scholarship funding it desires. Reassessing the need formula would ensure that neediest students are the first to benefit from the program.

It is unfair to make students who meet the deadline give a slice of their pie to late applicants.

Your turn

Students apathetic on divestment issue

Editor:

I would like to clear up a slight misunderstanding about my statements at the Student Senate meeting Wednesday which were reported in The Daily Eastern News Thursday.

My main point was that although the divestment of EIU would not shake the South African government to its roots, other groups thinking about divestment would be able to look at us and say "They divested and it hasn't hurt them financially. It seems to have worked." We would be a precedent to help them make their decision.

In saying that the EIU Foundation could invest in other stocks or bonds, I was replying to the views of College Republican President Andrew Leyden who has a gloomy view of the Foundation's financial future should we divest.

While reinvesting the money in corporations not involved with South Africa (as proposed by the Senate's recently passed resolution) would serve to further reinforce our stand against apartheid, there are alternative investments should these prove to be financially unfeasible.

I am however disappointed that with such an important issue the students were so apathetic that only three people showed up to give their views to the Student Senate before they made their decision. If you are against divestment, you could have come to give your reasons why and try to sway the senators. If you are for divestiture as I am, you could at least have shown up to give your support.

As it was, there was virtually no one there. It was only a half hour or so of your time that you would have had to give up in exchange for being able to take part in making this decision.

Anyone who didn't care enough to show up for the meeting has no right to complain that their views weren't represented.

You had your chance and chose to let it slip by.

Ron Keller

Strategic help for soldiers not jingoism

Editor:

Because The Daily Eastern News will probably not offer adequate space for a complete presentation of the Jastrow viewpoint on the President's Strategic Defense Shield (SDS), this rebuttal will need to be short and abrupt, not my favorite writing style.

A kudos is in order for Kevin McCann for his presentation of Robert Jastrow's credentials and insights (letter to the editor in the Oct. 14 edition of the News). With that, the kudos end.

I must disagree with Albert DiChiara in his claim (letter to the editor in the Oct. 14 edition of the News) that the point of MX is a far cry from rendering nuclear missiles "impotent and obsolete."

If Soviet Imperial Russia (SIR) should plan a Pearl Harbor on the free world, they would need to make MX and other military sites, roughly 312 in the U.S., their first priority target. Anything that protects these sites could only add to SIR's hesitation in doing a Pearl Harbor.

It is a little misleading to refer to the particle beam as nuclear powered and rigidly to associate it with SDS. The defense shield need not include particle beams.

I really never thought of support for the soldiers of the free world as "jingoism." If we civilians ask them to confront their special dangers, then we are obligated to equip them to do their job and to do it ethically and effectively. Otherwise, we should ask them for their uniforms, discharge them, and wait to surrender to SIR with the rest of us.

In my view SIR poses a clear and present danger to the sovereignty and liberty of the free world and to civilization itself. We often are told we need to "get along with SIR." President Reagan is right in asserting that they, too, need to get along with us!

If preventing a Pearl Harbor by non-nuclear means is "jingoism," then jingoism is a bargain, at say, the cost of $60 billion, Jastrow's price tag for a four-layer system using present technology.

Owens chooses the outside exit

By PAMELA LILL
Activities editor

Forty feet below was the ground. Standing on top of the Buzzard Building, Barbara Owens, dean of the college of applied arts and sciences, was ready to descend.

She wasn't taking the stairs, however. She was learning how to rappel.

"I was scared to death," Owens said, but added, "It's kind of an exciting feeling."

Owens said she's seen the Reserved Officer Training Corp cadets rappel before, and "it appeared to be something I'd like to do."

Rapelling is mandatory for "MS 3's and 4's," ROTC Captain Bob Frusha said. The cadets do it about two to three times a semester.

Clad in full army fatigues, Owens was the first one to "slide" down the building on Oct. 3. Since she was the first, Owens said "I couldn't say that I was scared."

"The most difficult thing was dropping from the roof," she said. But the second trip down was "much easier."

"To be honest about it, I think she did a really good job," Frusha said. "She showed a lot of confidence."

And rapelling down the side of the building wasn't the only chore Owens had to contend with.

"It took me longer to get dressed in the morning than it does in my normal working clothes," Owens said.

She said that her walking pace was slower that day too because "the boots were so heavy."

In recognition of her accomplishment, Owens was awarded the rank of Honorary Lieutenant Colonel of the Corps of Cadets.

Though the honorary rank doesn't give Owens any "military power," Frusha said the Reserve Officers Training Corps "recognizes that she is a strong supporter of ROTC."

What's next for the daring Dean? "I'd like to go to airborne school and do a jump," Owens laughed.

Vacated building changes hands

By CHRYSTAL PHILPOTT
Staff writer

While the building at 290 Lincoln Ave. was known for the aroma of enchiladas and sundaes, the structure might soon be known for its smell of money.

Vacated two months ago by lessors Dairy Queen and earlier by What's Cookin', the building will soon have a new occupant—a credit union.

Credit Union One, a Rantoul-based firm will soon begin converting the building for their operation, CUO President Angel Lopez said.

When the building was sold to CUO, Dairy Queen owners Scott and Barb Brooks were renegotiating their lease with Lois Williams, the daughter of the building's owner Pearl Williams, Mrs. Brooks said.

Also the owners of the Dairy Queen at 20 State St., Mrs. Brooks said they will continue that operation but will not look to find a new locale near Eastern's campus.

Business at the Lincoln Avenue store was slow, she said.

What's Cookin', which relocated to Seventh Street one block north of the square, moved to gain additional space, management there said.

The new credit union in Charleston will be the first branch away from the Rantoul base, Lopez said.

The new business is still in its first stage, he said.

But the building is not totally inactive. Charleston Building Inspector Jeff Finley said workers are performing systems repair, wall removal and cleanup work.

Week focuses on appreciation of instructors

By DONELLE PARDEE
Staff writer

The participants in higher education institutions are being honored by a week created especially for them—National Higher Education Week.

National Higher Education Week will be observed Monday through Friday, said Marianne Grierson of university relations.

"It is the brainchild of the National Council for Advancement and Support of Education and is proclaimed by our governor (James Thompson) as a week of recognition." This year's theme is

"Honor Thy Faculty."

Last year's higher education week was "a message to increase public support" of the institution that reached more than 100 million people, she said. This year's theme attempts to incorporate the same idea and reach as many people.

Grierson said, "The reason for having this week is to promote the importance of further education."

National Higher Education Week is also observed to broaden public understanding and appreciation for the institution of higher education, she said.

"We would like to stress the theme of 'Honor Thy Faculty,'" she said. "Many teachers and faculty members go unrewarded. At times, the faculty is thought of as unimportant. Students need to appreciate them more."

for all faculty members to become a part of the recruiting process. "It's the Titanic syndrome," Williams said.

"Whoever sees the iceberg had better yell—the bad thing to say is when the captain sees the iceberg, he is in trouble." We're all in trouble (if there is no recruiting)."

While all instructors receive the cards, the program is by no means mandatory.

"The program has to be voluntary if it's going to work," Williams said. "There has to be enthusiasm on the part of the teacher."

Eastern also relies on getting high school students to visit the campus as a recruiting method. A college day was held Monday for prospective students and their parents since most did not have school on Columbus Day.

Eastern will have its first career night Nov. 8 for high school students all over the area and from Lake Land Community College.

"We're trying to expose kids to the university that might not otherwise come to Eastern," Williams said. "If we can get them to see this campus, we might be able to get them to come here."

Despite the decrease in the available number of high school seniors, Williams is not concerned with having to lower admissions standards to keep enrollment constant.

"Our standards are reasonable and we are not going to lower them," Williams said. "We just have to work harder for those students that are available. Cadillac is going to keep selling cars no matter what Japan does. They're a quality product and so is Eastern."

Cross country roundup

Harriers lackluster in duel at Southern

By JOHN STROUD
Staff writer

Eastern men's cross country coaches Neil Moore and Tom Akers didn't get much reassurance concerning the final line-up for the conference meet from Saturday's duel with Southern.

The Salukis took the first four positions en route to an 18-37 runaway victory over the Panthers.

What was supposed to be one of the major determinants in choosing the line-up for the Nov. 2 Association of Mid-Continent Universities meet only made the decision more difficult.

Several new faces entered the Panthers' top seven, while others who have been consistently there fell out of the top pack.

"It's going to be really tough deciding the final line-up," Akers said. "There will be a lot of evaluation going on this week."

Freshman Donzell Jones re-established his position as the team's No. 1 runner finishing fifth overall in 26:12. He was followed by sophomore Dale Righter in sixth (26:19).

Southern's Andy Pettigrew won the race in 24:55. Pettigrew just regained eligibility this past week after being laid off for a year. Southern left their second, third and fourth runners at home on Saturday.

"Donzell ran a good race coming back considering we had a hard week of practice (last week)," Akers said.

Some newcomers to the top five grabbed the next three positions for Eastern. Freshmen Jim Maton and John Wells finished in seventh (26:25) and ninth (26:37) respectively.

Senior letterman Jeff Armstrong finished 10th in 26:40 to enter the top five coming off of injuries earlier in the season.

"Armstrong is back up there where he belongs," Akers said. "He had a weak summer of training and he is just now coming on strong."

"Wells and Maton have been very consistent for us. They stepped up there when some of our top runners had bad races," Akers added. "I am pleased with the performances of the people who finished in the top five."

Some runners who have been consistent for the Panthers had off races on Saturday making the conference line-up decision a tough one.

Senior Mitch McClure, who has been in the top two in every race this season, finished back in the pack as did sophomore Van Gardner and freshman Brad Conte.

"There's about 10 or 11 guys we can choose from," Akers said. "We can only take seven guys plus one alternate."

Women harriers bruised up at Western

By JOHN STROUD
Staff writer

MACOMB—Eastern's women's cross country team left the Western Invitational in worse shape than they went into it.

Already hampered with several injuries throughout the season, the team's No. 1 runner, junior Janine Jarris, aggravated a "stone bruise" she received last week in practice.

Although it isn't too serious according to coach John Craft, Jarris will be working out in the pool for a few days in order to stay off the foot.

The team was already running without a full team as freshman Heidi Lammon sat out of Saturday's meet recuperating from sore thighs.

"We think Heidi's going to be able to train with us again on Monday," Craft said.

Junior Kerri Sperry crossed the line first for Eastern Saturday finishing in 14th place with a time of 20:03. She was followed by junior Lisa Jostes in 16th (20:09).

Jarris did finish the race crossing the line in 18th place with a time of 20:27. Senior Peggy Brown ran another personal best of 21:36 finishing in 23rd.

"Peggy continues to improve every time," Craft said. "She's running a PR (personal record) every meet."

Western's Patty Murray won the race in 17:31 to lead her team to the championship with 26 points. Southern finished second with 45 and Northern Iowa had 54.

"We're going to try to get the injuries worked out," Craft said of the next couple of weeks before the Nov. 2 Gateway Conference meet.

"We want to field a full team and have all of our people there," Craft said. Junior Penni Lammon and freshman Marcy Novak, who have been injured since the beginning of the season are out for sure.

The team had originally been shooting for a top-four finish at the conference meet before the season started.

"Given all the instances that have taken place since then it may be unrealistic now," Craft said. "We'll have to see what happens in the next couple of weeks. Everybody will have to run their best race."

From a strategy standpoint, though, there are a few things Craft would like to work on in the next two weeks.

"We're going to try to concentrate on our pace, and try to tone down a little bit in the first K (kilometer)," Craft said.

"Kerri and Lisa went out and ran aggressively in their first K (Saturday). But it may have been a bit too aggressive."

ST. LOUIS—A controversial goal in the final three minutes of play left Eastern's soccer team on the losing end of a 3-2 score against St. Louis University Saturday night.

The loss dims a once-bright playoff picture and ends a five-game winning streak for the Panthers and frustrated Panther coach Cizo Mosnia. Eastern's record now stands at 9-3-1 on the season.

"It (the loss) wouldn't totally put us out of the (playoff) picture," Mosnia said.

"We still have the Dallas trip (against second-ranked Southern Methodist and seventh-ranked North Texas State in November). It's just a matter of winning our games and watching the other team's progress," he added.

The Panthers fought back from a 2-0 halftime deficit on goals by Rick Lansing, his fifth, and Mark Noffert, his third, to set the stage for the comeback.

But, Lady Luck and the officials were on the Billikens' side, according to Mosnia's recollection of the winning goal.

Mosnia said that Panther goalkeeper Mark Simpson was fouled after Simpson stepped out from the net to pick up a loose ball and a St. Louis player collided into him.

The impact knocked Simpson to the ground and threw the ball loose in front of the goal mouth. Noffert battled to clear the ball with Billiken Tim Strange, but the ball squibbed into the net with 3:37 remaining in the game, Mosnia said.

"The officiating wasn't spectacular," Mosnia said with a sigh. "I am almost tired of talking about these guys (referees), because I hate to complain."

"But, they should have actually called a foul. Unfortunately, we didn't clear the ball when it was knocked loose. I think the players were waiting for a foul to be called," Mosnia said.

"They (the players) were talking like they were cheated, but they realized they didn't play well in the first half. I think we have to play 90 minutes of soccer, instead of one half," Mosnia said.

A weak first-half performance is the same pattern Eastern followed during its previous defeats to Illinois State and Evansville.

Dan Walters scored the first St. Louis goal with 29:13 on the clock, and Bill Vieth added the second score for the Billikens with 14:06 left in the half.

The Panthers regrouped at halftime and quickly answered in the second half.

Ossie Molinari was tripped while carrying the ball within the 18-yard box of the Billikens' goal to give Eastern a penalty kick.

Lansing converted the penalty kick to pull the Panthers within one at 2-1, with 26:29 remaining.

Then, with 22:55 left in the game, Noffert scored on a pass from Larry Pretto to tie the score, 2-2.

The score remained that way, until Strange was credited with the controversial score which deflated the Panthers' hopes for a comeback win.

"They showed character by just coming back," Mosnia said. "Those weren't things that happened before."

"I thought it was a good sign," Mosnia added.

The soccer Panthers will return to Lakeside Field on Sunday to battle Midwest-foe Northwestern at 2 p.m., and Mosnia said his squad will be ready for the challenge.

ESPN sponsored banner contest set for O'Brien

Eastern's athletic department in coordination with ESPN will sponsor a "Make Believe We Are On National Television Day and Banner Contest" Saturday at O'Brien Stadium.

"This promotion is a unique and novel idea and ESPN is glad to be involved," Mike Soltys of ESPN said.

"This is a good chance to bring students together and possibly get some national publicity for Eastern," Soltys said.

However, it was Eastern's Promotion Director John Seketa that got things rolling for Eastern.

"I heard about the idea from a friend and I thought it was worth a try," Seketa said.

Seketa called the major networks and asked for their support, but they weren't interested. Thus, Seketa decided to try ESPN.

"After they thought about it they called me back," Seketa said. "Soltys told me they were interested and would be glad to get involved."

"I can't emphasize enough how much we need student involvement for this promotion to work."

"Hopefully, the stadium will be full of banners," Seketa said.

Prizes will include an ESPN Sports Banner for the best overall banner and ESPN hats for the winners of each category. "The winning banner will be sent in to ESPN," Seketa said.

The opening weekend of Gateway Conference play for Eastern's volleyball team closely mirrored its pre-season results.

The Panthers, who came out sizzling amassing a school-record 11-2 start to open the season, likewise came out smoking in Gateway action by blasting a three-set sweep.

Yet, just as the Panthers stumbled dropping six of their last seven pre-conference matches, Eastern was swept by Gateway-foe Northern Iowa in a Saturday contest.

The end result of this weekend's competition left Eastern with a 1-1 Gateway record and a 13-10 mark overall.

"Overall, I thought we played pretty well," Eastern coach Betty Ralston said. "We served really well and our blocking was pretty good at the net."

"Also our hitting was not as bad as it had been."

Eastern toppled Drake 15-5, 15-9 and 15-11 in Des Moines, Iowa.

"It's nice to finally win in three games again," Ralston said. "We played good defense and we were mixing things up well."

Senior outside hitter Judy Planos led the Eastern onslaught with 14 kills and a .364 hitting percentage. Planos, an Evanston native, also had nine digs.

Outside hitter Maura LeFevour registered seven kills with no errors in 11 attempts for a .636 hitting percentage, despite seeing action in just two games.

Sophomore setter Jeanne Pacione had 32 assists, four kills and two service aces.

Senior outside hitter Misty Buckhold had 13 digs for Eastern.

The tide was turned, however, when the Panthers traveled to Cedar Falls, Iowa, to battle Northern Iowa, one of the Gateway's most surprising teams thus far.

Northern Iowa bounced back from a five-game match loss to Gateway pre-season poll runner-up Southern Illinois by toppling Eastern 15-9, 15-4 and 15-4.

"Northern Iowa has the fastest offense we'll probably face all season," Ralston said. "Overall, we didn't play that badly."

"We played good scrappy defense. We also blocked really well considering their fast attack. They (Northern Iowa) definitely have a strong team."

Northern Iowa hit .341 in the match, compared to just .155 for Eastern.

Planos registered six kills, while Pacione and freshman Gianna Galanti added five.

Pacione, a Mt. Prospect native, also collected 21 assists, three block assists and one service ace.

LeFevour dished in four block assists, three kills and a service ace.

Eastern returns to action at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday by hosting St. Francis in Lantz Gym.

Panthers rise to occasion, turn back SWMO

Defense stops Bears' late 2-point attempt

By JEFF LONG
Sports editor

There Al Molde stood Saturday, on the sideline of O'Brien Stadium, feeling as though he was watching a rerun of a 1984 horror film.

The feeling of déjà vu was thicker than the afternoon humidity as the third-year coach watched the Bears of Southwest Missouri close to 28-27 and set up for the game-winning two-point conversion with 1:09 remaining.

It was the spitting image of last year's matchup, when the Bears cut the score to the same margin in the final seconds and converted the two-pointer to come away a 29-28 winner.

But to Molde's delight, the plot was changed ever so slightly Saturday. "I kept telling myself this can't happen two years in a row," he said.

"It was like an instant replay all of a sudden," receiver Calvin Pierce said.

This time the defense stood tall and stymied the Bears' two-point conversion attempt to preserve a hard-fought 28-27 victory before 4,085 vocal fans.

"It seemed like poetic justice to me," Molde reflected after the game. "It was only fair."

The win put Eastern over the .500 mark at 4-3 and upped its Gateway Conference record to 2-1. Southwest Missouri, which came in ranked 15th in Division I-AA, fell to 4-2-1 overall and 1-2-1 in the conference.

It was perhaps the biggest win for the Panthers thus far, coming at a crucial point in the season. It was also the second straight week they bested a ranked team.

It's "probably one of the biggest wins for us as a team," quarterback Sean Payton said. "It felt great for us to win this one."

The Bears had begun their final drive at their own seven with 7:12 remaining in the final period, when, 14 plays and over six minutes later, Keith Williams had scored his third touchdown of the day on a seven-yard pass from quarterback Greg Arterburn.

The Panthers appeared to have stopped the drive on several occasions, only to have penalties keep the Bear drive alive.

"I can't believe the sequence of events on that last drive," Molde said. "It's like it was faked. We'd have them stopped and then we'd get these penalties in unbelievable situations."

The defense appeared to have wrapped it up when strong safety David Swingler sacked Arterburn on a fourth down play from the Eastern eight yard line. Swingler threw Arterburn to the ground and then found a yellow flag thrown at his feet.

The verdict: face mask violation on Eastern, and a first and goal situation for the Bears at the four yard line.

"I came up and grabbed his jersey," Swingler said. "I guess I grabbed too high. The ref made the call and there was nothing I could do about it except go ahead and play ball on the next down."

The Panthers would have liked to grab face masks all day the way the Bears were running. Southwest racked up 390 yards rushing, 232 of them from Williams.

But surprisingly, it wasn't Williams who got the call on the crucial two-point attempt. Instead, it was halfback Ryan Jackson, and Eastern's defense was up to the task.

The Bears pitched the ball left to Jackson, who headed straight for the end zone. But Eastern's Bob Bronaugh and Jeff Mills had different travel plans for Jackson.

The two confronted him short of the goalline where Jackson tried to catapult over the defense. Instead, Bronaugh and Mills flipped him head over heels, leaving the Bears just inches short of victory.

"They came outside and we contained it, so he (Jackson) tried to jump over me," Bronaugh said. "I thought he went in, but I didn't see it—he jumped over my head."

The defensive heroics preserved an inspiring performance by the offense, which was led by Payton's three touchdown passes. Payton finished the day with 27 completions in 52 attempts for 383 yards as the offense compiled 500 total yards.

"We could move the ball anytime we wanted to," yards receiving and scored one touchdown. Southwest coach Rich Johannmeir looks on in dismay.

said Pierce, who caught six passes for 93 yards, including a 57-yard touchdown.

Panther receivers had a field day, led by Roy Banks, who hauled in seven passes for 119 yards and a TD. Willie Cain, filling in for the injured Charlie Williams, caught a game-high eight passes for 110 yards.

And running back DuWayne Pitts helped balance things out, rushing 18 times for 97 yards and catching six passes for 61 yards coming out of the backfield.

"We played hard and never quit," Molde assessed. "We're coming together as a team now."

Pendleton's 2-out double in ninth gives Cards 2-0 edge

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Terry Pendleton turned from defensive hero to offensive hero Sunday night with a three-run double in the ninth inning that gave St. Louis a 4-2 victory over the Kansas City Royals and a 2-0 lead in baseball's 82nd World Series.

Pendleton's two-out double capped a four-run inning off Royals' left-hander Charlie Leibrandt, who carried a two-hitter into the inning.

It put the Cardinals in a commanding position to win their second Series in four years.

Thirty-five times, teams have won the first two games in a Series, and 27 times, they have gone on to win.

Game 3 will match Cardinals right-hander Joaquin Andujar, 21-12 during the season but largely ineffective the past month, against the Royals' ace, 21-year-old right-hander Bret Saberhagen, 20-6.

Willie McGee started the rally with a double down the left field line, only the third hit off Leibrandt. But McGee had to wait at second while Ozzie Smith grounded out and Tommy Herr flew out to shallow right.

Jack Clark, whose two-out, three-run homer in the ninth inning beat the Los Angeles Dodgers on Wednesday and gave the Cardinals the National League pennant, took three balls before he finally found one he could hit. He pulled it into left field between third and shortstop, scoring McGee with the first run of the night for St. Louis.

Tito Landrum followed with a bloop double just fair down the right field line, sending Clark to third, and Cesar Cedeno was walked intentionally. That brought up Pendleton, who turned a key double play Saturday night with a running, back-to-the-plate catch and throw.

Kansas City Manager Dick Howser had relief ace Dan Quisenberry warming in the bullpen, but he stuck with Leibrandt. It was the wrong decision.

Pendleton hit a 2-1 pitch into the left field corner.
